Laundry basket wall shelf

Storage is so important in a laundry room. Storing a laundry basket for a pile is a great way to save space, but adding tons of storage and functionality to a small laundry room or closet. This light shelf unit is the perfect laundry basket organizer so you can hide your dirty laundry. It quickly build a shelf holding 4 laundry baskets so you can sort and store all your dirty clothes. And a bonus, it's made out of one sheet of plywood so it's very budget friendly. I can't believe it's been week three of a $100 laundry room makeover. This week I was hoping to do so much, but unfortunately I also did bronchitis right after last week's update. I've never had bronchitis before and that put me up for 5 days! Missing 5 days renewed long room makeover is a bit scary. There are only 14 days left and I've completed two of the missions on my long list. This week will be a lot of work trying to get involved! But enough of how behind me, let's talk about storing this amazing laundry basket! Since I had room on either side of our washer and dryer, I knew I wanted to take advantage of it. I thought I'd add a broom cupboard to store detergents and stuff. But then I had to go downstairs and return my broom every day when I was sweeping the kitchen (not going to happen). Then I realized there was plenty of room to add a laundry basket organizer. Right now our laundry baskets are just lying in the hallway every time I do laundry. The kids have to run the gauntlet of piles of clothes and baskets on the way to their bedrooms (but I don't think they really care). But it's driving me crazy! So I decided to turn the extra space into a stackable laundry basket storage where all the clothes can be sorted and stored while they wait their turn at washing the laundry. After I made my decision on why to use the spare room, it was time to go to the drawing board. I needed a way to add the great stackable laundry basket storage without breaking the $100 budget! If you remember from last week, I've spent $19 on the beautiful floor and there are still many more projects I want to achieve in space. I decided to sacrifice enough budget space for one sheet of plywood to create the perfect laundry sorting shelves. Now all I had to do was create the perfect plans for it! The laundry basket storage shelf takes a little more wood than one sheet of plywood I designed. He also used 2, 4 strips of plywood for a kick in the hon and back brace (so I could attach it to the wall). Luckily I had some leftover plywood in my hideout to take care of it. If you want to do your own stacking laundry basket storage and you can have leftover lying plywood, you can also use the 1x4 board for these two pieces. Easy peas! Cost to build laundry basket storage stack before I share the construction plans for storing the laundry basket, let's talk about budget! With only $100 to spend on the whole room, every That counts. I am pleased to report that along with some leftovers from my garage and thanks to my extensive collection of screws (I never throw one, ever), I managed to create the laundry basket shelves for a perfect stack for just $35! Laundry basket storage: Plywood $35 Another tree $0 (use some leftovers to finish things off) Screws, nails, glue $0 (was on hand) Total amount: $35 $100 laundry room budget makeover and that's all spent this week because I was down for a count most of the time. But there is still a huge list of things to do for the full laundry room makeover! With $45 left, maybe I'm getting a little nervous about the list. Wish me luck! Laundry Stencil Floor Room $19 Stackable Laundry Basket Storage $35 Repair Holes and Touch Wall Paint Low Cabinets and Install New Light So I Can Get All Doors Working Build New Doors for Paint Cabinets Find a Creative Way to Cover Exhaust Pipe Dryer Build Shelf Behind Washing Machine & Tile Dryer Tile Backsplash Add Lots of Beautiful Things! How to make a storage tool for a pile laundry basket: A circular saw I associate my circular saw with Kreg AccuCut and RipCut to easily rip sheets of plywood with incredible plywood myself (something I can never do with my desk saw). Kreg Jig Finishing Gun Nail Drill Measuring Tape Staplers Supplies: (1) Sheet of 3/4 Plywood (1) 4' 1x4 Tablet (36) 1 1/4 Pocket Hole Screws (1/4) 4) 1 1/4 adhesive wood nail finish 23 x 19 x 10 Optional laundry baskets: 1/4 thick strips of wood or tape tip to finish the edges of plywood. Cut plywood according to the diagram below. Drill 4 pocket holes on each side of each shelf board. Set up Kreg jig for 3/4 thick material and use 1 1/4 pocket hole screws for all joining. Connect the shelves to one of the side panels with pocket hole screws and wood glue. Secure them so they're 12 apart. The bottom shelf will flush with the top of the toe kick. The top shelf will flush with the top of the angular part of the side. Connect the other part with the pocket holes on the other side of the shelves. Properly take care of the shelving space on this side, as well as to ensure square shelves and levels. Cut the 1x4 board to support the toe and back kick. Connect the toe kick with wood glue and finishing nails. Connect the rear support with two pocket holes on both sides so that it will flush with the back of the shelf unit. You can leave the shelves as is or finish the edges. I finished the edges with thick 1/4-inch strips of pine wood (I tore them up with my desk saw but you can also do it with AccuCut and a round saw if you support AccuCut with wood resinidum). Connect the straps to the front of each plywood with wood glue and finishing nails. Or you can finish the edges of plywood with an edge film. However, ending the edges of plywood is not necessary. I didn't do it at the wooden cabinet organizers and I liked the industrial look of unfinished plywood. Now sand and... Or paint the organizer of the stackable laundry basket. This weekend I plan to paint mine as well as the ugly closets of the '80s. I can't wait to see the change after the paint is done! (1) Plywood Sheet 3/4 (1) 4' 1x4 Board (36) 1 1/4 Pocket Hole Screws (4) 1 1/4 Nail Finish Wood Glue 23 x 19 x 10 Optional Laundry Baskets: 1/4 Thick strips of wood or tip to finish the edges of plywood. Sand and sediment or draw the organizer of the stackable laundry basket. Please leave a comment on the blog or share a photo on Instagram that this $100 laundry room makeover is going to be amazing!
